When it comes to healthcare staffing, MORE does matter.

Since 1988, Nurses and More has played a crucial role in matching patients, care facilities, and medical personnel by their unique needs. There is a good reason we've become the most reputable medical staffing agency in the industry. Clients trust us because they know we care, and that we will match them with excellent caregivers who have passed the most rigorous vetting process in the industry.

More Confidence

We understand that a gap in your staffing schedule may result in rescheduled patients, lost treatments and costly overtime. You need to keep your department running smoothly and that means more than simply filling positions. It means having a staffing partner who can deliver the right talent when you need it.

Nurses and More is focused on providing exceptional people and service every step of the way. We understand the level of trust it takes to place your staffing needs with an outside partner. We also believe it is our responsibility to be worthy of that trust in all that we do. We have staff on hand 24/7/365 to provide timely responses to your inquiries. It is a strict company policy that every client is followed up with immediately. No excuses.

Our Screening Process

Nurses and More uses a rigorous screening process that's a lot more demanding than what you'll find anywhere else. Why? Because the truth is that not everyone is qualified to work for Nurses and More. And when we say no to those that don't meet our high standards, we start hearing yes—yes from hospitals and senior communities, yes from schools and long-term care facilities.
